LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist Hong Kong

"TRUTH" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 27th, 1935.

The Golden Text was "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth; unite my heart to fear thy name." (Psalms 86:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgement: a God of truth and without iniquity just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32: 1, 3, 4).

"Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all day." (Psalms 25: 5).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals try to believe without understanding Truth; yet God is Truth. Sin and sickness will abate and seem less real as we approach the scientific period, in which mortal sense is subdued and all that is unlike the true likeness disappears." (p. 312; p. 408).

NEW LINERS TO SAIL SEAS

Record Scrapping Of Veterans

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

More large passenger liners were sold to shipbreakers during 1934 than in any previous year since the war, according to the annual review by Lloyd's Register of Shipping.

The largest vessel sold for scrapping was the Canard-White Star Adriatic (94,679 tons), which went to Japan, thus ending a famous career of 28 years.

In addition to the Adriatic, the following large vessels were disposed of:

British—Metagama (12,420 tons), Albertic (18,940), Empress of France (18,452), Minnewaska (21,718), Minnetonka (21,968), Desanda (11,476).

French—Espagne (11,155), Roanville (12,676), France (93,799).

German—Dresden (14,890).

They will be rapidly replaced. In addition to the French Line's Normandie, which will be placed in commission early this year, the 24,000-ton Orion of the Orient Line, and the same sized Strathmore of the Peninsular and Oriental Line will make their maiden voyages in the late summer or autumn.

On The Stocks

Among large liner contracts already placed are two fast motor passenger liners of over 25,000 tons each, and two intermediate motor vessels of 13,000 tons each for the Union-Castle Line, and a 13,000-ton passenger and cargo vessel for the Bibby Line. And, of course, the 73,000-ton Queen Mary is now in course of fitting out, although she will not be ready until 1936.

These are only a few of the many ships for which orders have been placed.

"According to the latest official records," the Review states, "the total amount of shipping laid up in British ports on Oct. 1, 1934, was 818,030 tons, the lowest since the end of 1926. This was a reduction of 43 per cent. on the corresponding period of 1933, largely accounted for by sales abroad and scrapping.

The record high level was 2,106,140 tons on July 1, 1932.

CLOSED FIGHTERS FOR THE R.A.F.

Increase Of Speed In Smoother Air

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

Sir P. Sassoon (Under Secretary for Air), replying to Mr. Everard in the House of Commons, said that experiments were being made with the use of closed fighters for the Royal Air Force.

The principal reason for adopting a covered-in cockpit for the pilot of a single-seat fighter aeroplane is to secure a smoother flow of air over the body and thus increase the speed. The guns fired by the pilot are fixed and fire directly ahead. He directs them by manoeuvring the machine.

Travelling at great speed, the pilot in a closed-in fuselage cannot be distinctly seen from an enemy machine and since at close quarters machine-gun fire is sometimes directed at the pilot himself this is one of the arguments put forward in favour of the closed-in machine. Many pilots, however, do not like the idea of being in a kind of cabin.

Some of the new designs for fighters embody this feature, but naturally details are not yet divulged.

In the case of some two-seater fighters the occupant of the rear cockpit is covered in, but for a different reason. He operates a machine-gun which can be trained on to the target, and in a fast machine the rush of air is so great as to make it impossible for him to aim it round even slowly. It is, therefore, necessary to protect him and the gun from the violence of the air stream.

In answer to Mr. Thorne, Sir P. Sassoon said that 88 R.A.F. aircraft had been involved this year in accidents. The total number killed was 31 and injured 58. He was happy to say that this year the number killed was the lowest on record.

Major Turner, in an article said that in the present year the R.A.F. has flown 47,000,000 miles with only 31 fatalities. He pointed out that paratroopers have played an important part in saving life.

Sir Philip Sassoon stated, in reply to Rear Admiral Suter, that a supplementary estimate for air services would be introduced in February.

UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

French Inducement To Industry

Paris, Jan. 25.

In order to combat unemployment in this country the Government, next week, will introduce a bill granting to manufacturers engaging labour a special unemployment bonus.

At the same time the Government contemplates reducing the hours of labour, in much the same way as Britain plans to do, so that more workers may be absorbed in the active industries.

M. Flandin, the Prime Minister, speaking in the Chamber of Deputies to-night after the Chamber had approved by a vote of 4-0 to 122 his project, announced the Government's Bill raising the limit for the 1st of short term Treasury bills from 10,000,000 francs to 15,000,000,000 francs.

This he did by authorising the issue during 1935, of Treasury bills to the value of 5,000,000,000.

The Bill, which M. Flandin describes as a great experiment, aims at creating a short term money market similar to that obtaining in England.

M. Flandin scathingly attacked the devaluation advocates and said the Government would preserve its policy of equilibrium in finance.

BRITAIN'S AIR DEFENCE RING

More Aerodromes To Be Built

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

Further important developments have just taken place towards completing Britain's new "air defence ring."

The Air Ministry has practically completed negotiations for two more great aerodrome sites—one at Ternhill (south-west of Market Drayton), and the other at Harwell (a few miles south of Oxford).

Each is to be about 500 acres in extent.

This means that during the last few months the location of seven new aerodromes has been decided. The other five trace a line from Lincolnshire along to Chichester Harbour and then up inland to a point near Aldershot.

In order, these 'dromes are: Manby (near Louth), Marham (near King's Lynn), Feltwell (near Ely), Thorney Island (near Portsmouth), and Odham (near Farnborough and Aldershot).

Greatest of all of them is that at Thorney Island. It is 1,300 acres in extent, and it is of tremendous strategic importance.

It is estimated that it will take two or three years to complete and, in addition to many land machines, it will accommodate a number of squadrons of the Fleet Air Arm, working in conjunction with the aircraft carriers operating from Portsmouth Harbour, a few miles away.

Great expansions are also being made in the Leuchars aerodrome in Fife.

Further Sites

Negotiations for still further aerodrome sites are in an advanced stage, and arrangements for at least four more (two of which are expected to be in South and South-West England) will be completed in the next few weeks.

They will make up the 11 which Lord Hailsham, Minister for War, forecast in the House of Lords.

These will, however, not complete the programme the Air Ministry has in view, and there will be investigation of additional sites soon.

LOCKJAW DEATHS MAY NOW BE AVERTED

Oxford Doctor's Discovery

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

Lives which would otherwise, perhaps, be beyond human aid may now be saved by a modern miracle of medicine.

After two years of patient research, with the help of chemists, a young Oxford doctor has produced a drug which, it is hoped, will save life in apparently fatal cases of tetanus or lockjaw.

It is the story of the transformation by modern science of a deadly poison hitherto used in the blowpipes of South American Indians into an instrument for saving life and the prevention of suffering.

Dr. Ranyard West, who has been working at the Oxford University Department of Pharmacology, has appealed for prognosis of any case of tetanus "in which a fatal prognosis can be made with little hope of error."

Only in Extreme Cases "The treatment is in its experimental stage at the moment," he said, "and I would not dare to use it except in cases where death would otherwise result."

"I could reach a case within 100 miles of Oxford or London within a few hours of word being received."

Dr. West described the poison as "curare" and said that the natives prepared it by boiling various plants.

"Its effect is to paralyse the muscles, and that is why we have always wanted to use it in cases of fits and spasms. In cases of lockjaw, the victim usually dies in the course of muscular spasms and if we could paralyse the muscles it would prevent this."

"I have enough of it with me to treat 20 or 30 cases, and altogether we have prepared sufficient to treat all the cases which would normally arise in this country in six months."

"Breathing Machine"

"Tests have been made with it, and I know approximately how much to give a patient."

Dr. West said that if the treatment proved successful efforts would be made to manufacture curarine synthetically.

"I have requested that seeds of the plant should be sent with the idea of its being germinated here," he added, and pointed out that one of the difficulties of treatment with the drug was that it might be necessary to apply artificial respiration to patients, as the paralysis caused by it affected the muscles used in breathing.

"I propose to use a machine invented by Sir William Bragg and Mr. Paul," he added.

SHEEP RESCUED ON CRAG

Two sheep cragfast on rocks by Lake Ullswater were rescued recently by Thomas Teasdale, a Glenridding farmer who has twice been rewarded for animal rescues on Lakeland mountains.

On the present occasion he was lowered 70 feet by ropes over Raven Crag to the sheep, which he fastened with other ropes so that they could be hauled up by his brothers, Edmund Teasdale, and George Teasdale and four other men.

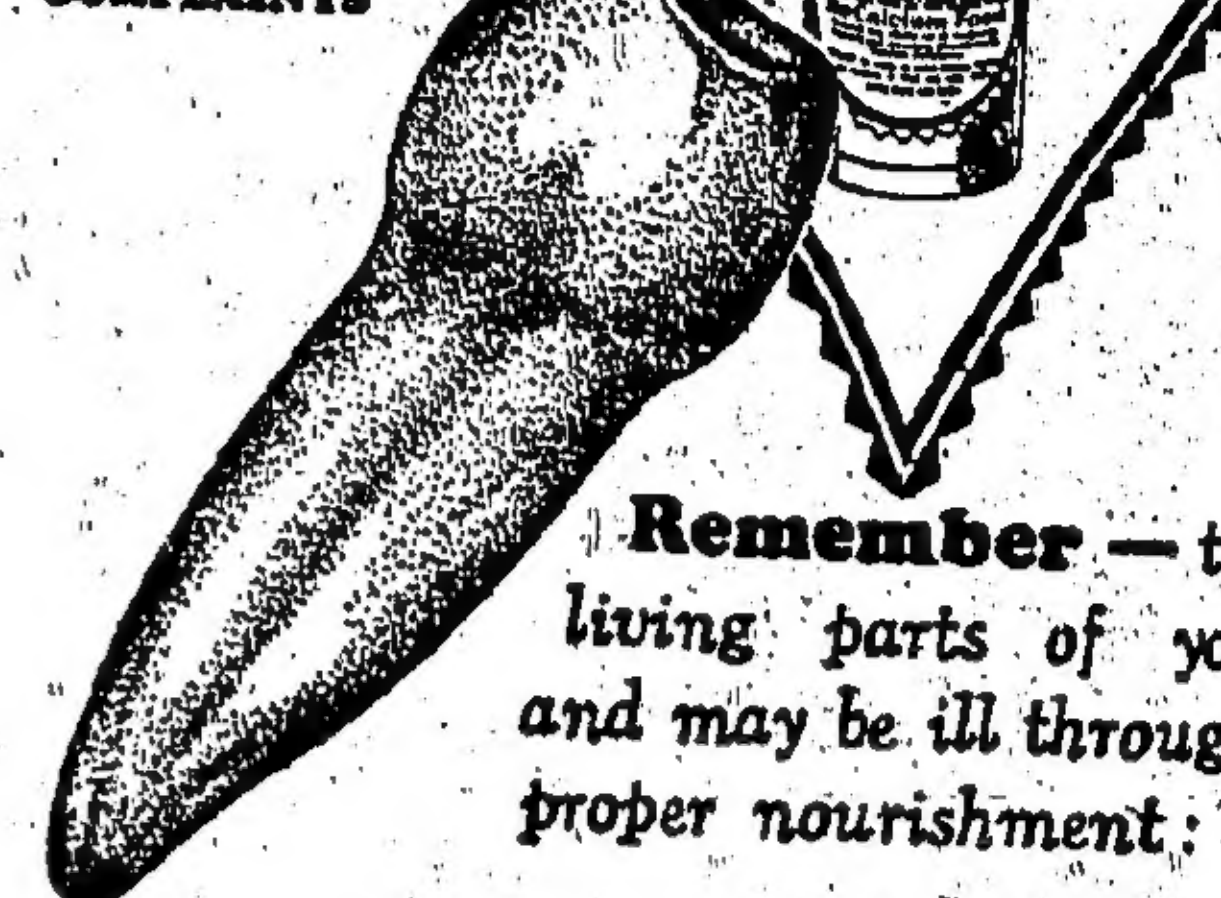

Mr. Teasdale noticed the sheep working their way along from foothold to foothold on the crag some days previously. They were left to see if they could free themselves, but Mr. Teasdale heard their bleating and decided to try to save them.

He received the R.S.P.C.A. medal for an heroic attempted rescue of sheep five years ago, and with hunters of the Ullswater Park saved two hounds when cragfast on St. Sunday Crag some time later.

SHOPPING FIFTY YEARS HENCE

All Britain A Suburb

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

Sir Woodman Burdidge, who has announced recently, as retiring from the managing directorship of Harrods Ltd., visualising in an interview the shopping world 50 years hence, said:

"Aeroplane laden with merchandise will be speeding all over the kingdom, making Manchester, Birmingham, Exeter and even Scotland shopping suburbs of London. Shopping by telephone will have developed to a phenomenal extent."

"The aeroplane service will come down considerably in cost in time, and then country and provincial customers should receive goods from London as quickly as suburban people."

Asked whether, through television, a woman in, say, Norwich or Nottingham would be able to look at articles in a London store and do her shopping from 100 or so miles away, he replied:

"When a woman is shopping she likes to feel, say, a dress material as well as see it. That desire to feel the quality of things is an obvious difficulty with television shopping."

Sir Woodman added that women to-day were harder to please than ever—because they knew much more about things. As women grew more worldly wise to fashions, through the cinema, educational movements, and travel, so they became harder to please.

A MYSTERY PORTRAIT

Presented To Scots National Gallery

(Special Air Mail Service)

Edinburgh, Jan. 9.

A mystery portrait by Raeburn has been added to the Scottish National Gallery, Edinburgh.

It depicts a lady in a white muslin cap and white shawl with black bows and ribbons, and was bequeathed to the Gallery by Miss Alice Leslie Inglis.

Failing verification the picture has meantime been labelled "An unidentified lady."

Apparently it is an example of the artist's early work.

The Vaughan Request of water-colours by J. M. W. Turner, R.A., will be shown at the Scottish National Gallery during the month of January.

On this occasion the pictures have been hung in the gallery upstairs usually devoted to drawings by old masters. In the same room a group of small sketches by Sir Daniel Macnee, P.R.S.A., is being shown.

A new picture by Van Dyck, "A Portrait of a Youth," has been hung in the central gallery beside the other examples of the same artist.

ROYAL NAVY

RETIRED OFFICERS' PAY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9.

The controversy about the withholding of retired officers' pensions during the time they were serving during the War is recalled by an Order in Council published in the "London Gazette" consolidating and amending the regulations governing the emoluments of officers on the retired and emergency lists when called out in case of war or emergency.

A committee under Mr. Holman Gregory, K.C., which was set up by the first Labour Government in 1924 failed to agree on this matter. The chairman and two other members found that the practice of suspending retired pay during active service was reasonable, whereas the other two members considered that the grievance felt by the officers whose retired pay was stopped should be remedied.

The principle of withholding retired pay is retained in the new regulations. Full pay will be issued on the scale appropriate to the officer's rank on the retired list, time served on full pay in that rank being reckoned for the purpose of increases of full pay, the scale to be that in force at the time for corresponding officers on the active list. Retired pay is to be suspended. A bonus of 25 per cent. will be payable on the full pay issued, exclusive of any allowances. An officer eligible for full pay and bonus may elect to remain in receipt of his current service retired pay, increased by 25 per cent. of such retired pay, if more to his advantage. Neither time nor promotion on or after retirement will qualify for increase or grant of retired pay.

Officers who have retired without retired pay, and officers on the emergency list, will receive full pay only, no bonus being payable. The time served will count for increase of full pay, but neither time nor promotion after retirement is to qualify for retired pay or retiring gratuity. Separate rules apply to officers in receipt of disability retired pay or pension, or disability additions to service retired pay. Officers retained in employment beyond the normal age for compulsory retirement will be treated as retired officers re-employed.

INCREASED PAY FOR CHAPLAINS

Revised conditions of service approved for chaplains of the Royal Navy entered on or after December 25, 1934, provide for increased rates of full pay, but involve a reduction in the age and service scale of retired pay and in the amount of withdrawal gratuities. Chaplains already serving are given the option of remaining under the old conditions if they prefer, and must report their decision within three months. The new order does not apply to temporary chaplains not in conformity with the Church of England, concerning whom a further announcement will be made.

The lowest scale of pay, 15s. 4d. a day, is abolished, and the scale of 18s. a day, hitherto payable after three years, becomes the rate on entry; 23s. 4d. a day hitherto payable after six years, becomes the rate after three years; 28s. 2d. a day, hitherto payable after nine years, becomes the rate after six years, and so on until the late maximum rate of 45s. a day is attainable after 27 years instead of 30 as hitherto. A new maximum rate of 47s. 8d. a day is introduced for chaplains after 30 years.

"I Believed In You"

It is not often that cinema goers are treated to such a nice story as that shown at the King's Theatre now as the current feature, entitled "I Believed In You."

This film has for its star Rosemary Ames, with John Boles in the leading male role and Victor Jory sharing the masculine lead. John Boles, in "I Believed In You," is the same old Boles that entertained us in "One Heavenly Night" and "My Lips Betray," pictures which are not easily forgotten. The role in the picture now showing is somewhat similar to reaches great sentimental heights at times, and at times it is really funny, though by no means comical.

Rosemary Ames is an actress of great polish and she promises to share the topmost positions in her profession very soon. In "I Believed In You," she gives an excellent characterisation of a role that is frequently met with in life—the role of a woman torn between duty and love.

COMING SOON TO THE QUEEN'S

Channel Crossing

Jacob Van Eeden, a financier and popular sportsman puts over a big deal with forged stock and then embarks for France, accompanied by his attractive secretary, Marion Slade, with whom he is secretly in love, hoping to cover up his misdeed. Once on board he finds that fog has caused a fatal delay, and he confesses his forgery to Marion.

His confession is overheard by Peter Bradley, her jealous fiancé and when he cries to create trouble Van Eeden throws him overboard. Following this he discovers that Marion is genuinely in love with Peter, and that he stands no chance of winning her love. Remorse then overtakes him, and, after bringing about Peter's rescue, he takes his own life in circumstances that leave no suspicion.

Directed for Gaumont-British by Milton Rosmer, "Channel Crossing" was written by Angus MacPhail and W. P. Lipscomb. It is first-class entertainment and will soon be seen at the Queen's Theatre.

THE HAGUE COURT

Japan's Desire To Retain Seat

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9. The death of Mr. Adachi, the Japanese judge on the Permanent Court of International Justice, at the Hague, produces an interesting position in view of Japan's notice of withdrawal from the League. It is not necessary for membership of the League, to be a member of the Court, but the United States has several times been near the point of joining the Court, which means subscribing to the Court statute and not necessarily to the League Covenant. Nor is it necessary for a State to belong to the Court for one of its nationals to be elected a judge, for there has always been an American judge, the present one being Mr. Kellogg. The judges are elected by the Council and Assembly of the League, and this, together with the League's right to ask for advisory opinions and the League's duty to finance the Court, is the only constitutional link. The League in its wisdom elected an American judge, but there does not seem the same call to elect a Japanese judge if Japan leaves the Court, for the Asiatic outlook is already represented by a Chinese judge.

The chances are that in fact, Japan will desire to remain in the Court, for it is common knowledge that she does not like being outside such representative organisations. She was not at all happy to give notice to leave the League, and there is no reason why she should leave the Court. If she stays it is probable the Council and Assembly will elect a Japanese judge to replace Mr. Adachi. The League has always kept itself singularly free from any taint of vindictiveness in such circumstances, and it has been well justified.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

Drama At The Queen's

Taken from Sir James Barrie's renowned play, "What every woman knows," now showing at the Queen's Theatre, is a dramatic story of a girl in love who hid her heartbreak from the world.

Helen Hayes portrays Maggie, a Scotch woman who is described as "without charm" but who is married to a likeable young man through a contract made by her parents and his. She gives him all the help she can and succeeds in making a great success of him, but when his love strayed, all the beauty and strength of her little self rose to fight the world and win him back.

Helen Hayes, whose dramatic talents are well known to cinema goers, portrays "Maggie" with living reality and was given able support by Brian Aherne as her husband and Madge Evans as a designing young siren, an entirely new role for her.

Also in the supporting cast are Lucille Watson, Dudley Digges, Donald Crisp, David Torrence, Henry Stephenson and Boyd Irwin, and every one of them helps to make the picture both dramatic and entertaining.

ETHER THE ONE GREAT REALITY

Sir Oliver Lodge Prophecies

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9. For eight and a half minutes, Sir Oliver Lodge made a prophecy concerning the future of the world, writes Winifred Lorraine in the Daily Express.

He was filmed as he read it—but the reel is not for the public. It will be locked away in archives after it has been shown in every engineering and scientific institute as one of a series of scientific prophecies by the leading physicists of the day.

Sir Oliver is their patriarch at the age of eighty-three. Here is the gist of his simple message. I cannot hope it will reach you with the full significance with which it reached those in the studio, who were deeply stirred by his Jovial appearance and sincerity.

But will it be proved in 2000 A.D.?

Holds Universe Together

"The ether which surrounds us," said Sir Oliver, "is the one great reality. Invisible and leaving no impression on the senses, it is the substance which holds the universe together, in which the stars are imbedded and all other matter—that mere discontinuous collection of atoms.

"The present century, which has made many important discoveries in physics, seeks to discredit and deny the ether."

"But the twenty-first century will discover that it is the beginning and the end of all things, that which lies behind and, indeed, makes possible the existence of our physical life and mind."

Survival After Death

Sir Oliver told me in his dressing-room that it was our other bodies—or etheric shapes—which permeate our physical bodies and which survive us after death.

He said he thought communication with the ether bodies would progress and become a daily matter of course once we understood the ether.

"But I," admitted Sir Oliver, "have not been able to progress much in my communications with the ether bodies or so-called dead. But my faith remains."

The Last Time

Preaching to a congregation of sailors, the minister said: "Now friends, if you were at sea and a storm came on, you would make for the nearest land, of course."

Broad smiles lit up the faces of his congregation, and guessing that he had erred, the minister floundered on uncomfortably to the end of his discourse.

"Were you ever at sea, Mr. A.?" one of his elders asked him after the service.

"Only once," he admitted, "and that was when I was preaching that sermon."

THE WORLD MOVES ON

THE LOVE STORY OF A CENTURY

MADELINE CARROLL FRANCHOT TONE

THE WORLD MOVES ON

The King's Next Change

Madeleine Carroll, glamorous film actress, who shares stellar honours with Franchot Tone in the Fox Film "The World Moves On," coming to the King's Theatre on Wednesday, has been "debunking" all the glamorous tales of Hollywood.

To reporters in her Mayfair mansion the other day she said: "I encountered, everywhere I went, some of the nicest people I have ever met. I was made to feel that everybody was my friend."

"Hollywood itself is not romantic. It is just a commercial provincial town. Everybody has work to do, starts early in the morning to do it and has little time for frivolity when it is ended. 'I was there ten weeks. I went to five parties. One was my own."

"The town at night is almost dead. I saw no evidence of wild parties. I did not even see a gun."

"During the first few days everything seemed crazy. Every two hours police on motor-cycles roared past, making an ear-piercing scream with their sirens. Traffic stopped."

"Later I found that the motor-cycle squad was being used after time by some local dignitary who wanted everyone to know he was going to the railway station."

"Kidnapping? Do you know I never heard Dillinger's name mentioned once? And many film stars do not even lock up their homes."

In "The World Moves On," halled as "the love story of a century," Miss Carroll plays what she herself has called the best role of her career. The picture was produced by Winfield Sheehan and directed by John Ford from an original story by Reginald Berkeley.

LET'S LOVE AND LAUGH

At The Star

What is undoubtedly the most beautiful and imposing screen cabaret ever filmed is shown in the British International picture "Let's Love and Laugh," which is showing now at the Star. Produced and designed at Elstree Studios, this ultra-modern cabaret takes, at first sight the original form of a schoolroom.

Before a black curtain marked A.B.C. which recalls the "blackboard" of our youth, twenty demure young girls in neat drill uniforms sit at desks with their satchels at hand. The school-marm, in horn-rimmed spectacles and a severe black frock, presides until with a fanfare from a jazz band a magical transformation takes place. The school-mistress throws away her specs and frock and stands revealed as a star dancer and the schoolgirls, discarding their satchels and demure frocks leap upon the desks in the briefest of cabaret attire and all give way to the exhilarating rhythm of the music.

The interior of the cabaret, a symphony in black and silver, is one of the most beautiful settings the screen has ever presented, and it is decorated with an original collection of carved wooden animals. An army of waiters and page boys attend on the crowded tables of the cabaret's visitors, and in addition to the dance orchestra of twenty-four picked performers, there is a fully equipped cocktail bar with its nimble fingered attendants and a negro in native costume to serve coffee. Hundreds of gaily coloured streamers and balloons were showered upon each other by the players in this scene, in which it is estimated over two hundred artists took part.

Magnificent as this scene appears it is only one of the many that, artistic in design, and uproariously funny in situation, go

DOCTOR MONICA

Showing At The Alhambra

The story of the eternal triangle with unusual theme reaching a thrilling and unexpected climax is the film "Doctor Monica" now showing at the Alhambra theatre.

Although called "Doctor Monica," it is not in any sense of the word a hospital or medical picture. Rather it is the amazingly colourful drama and romance in which the central character happens to be a doctor.

It is hard to describe "Doctor Monica." It is a sex drama, with sex so subordinated that it accentuates the thrilling incidents of the plot rather than forming its basic motif. It is sophisticated but absolutely free from vulgarity, in text or in suggestion.

Two women both fine characters, are in love with one man who is married to one of them, and is the lover of the other. The man, despite his seduction of the girl, is neither brazen or abandoned.

Each woman tries to sacrifice herself for the other, and in one of the most dramatic scenes ever screened the "other woman" flies out to sea in an almost fuelless airplane.

Kay Francis as Dr. Monica is great in her portrayal while Jean Muir lends admirable support as "the other woman."

Warren Williams as the man who would like to be true to his wife but at the same time is madly infatuated with another woman played a difficult role but nevertheless gave a very convincing bit of acting.

Others in the cast are Veree Teasdale, Philip Reed, Emma Dunn, Herbert Bunson, Ann Shoemaker, Virginia Hammond, Hale Hamilton and Virginia Pine.

MARIE LOUISE DIARY

Experts Differ In Its Authenticity

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 9. Marie Louise was in the auction limelight last month at Sotheby's, but with diminished lustre. Yet, as will be proved, the diary, purporting to be in her own hand, covering the period between April, 1810, and September, 1813, was very well sold in realizing £490.

The moot point raised was whether this handwriting was the Empress's own. It was suggested that it might have been that of a copyist or of such an intimate amanuensis as that ingenious Mme de Montebello, who was the only person at the French Imperial Court capable of deciphering the intricate writing of the letters which Napoleon wrote to Marie Louise on his campaign.

The story of the finding of this particular diary is a romantic one. Apparently in her hurried flight from the Tuilleries on March 20, 1814, she dropped it on the floor of her apartment. One of her pages found it and took it to his tutor (who annexed it). The tutor's sister afterwards sold it to an English lady, whose granddaughter sent it to Sotheby's.

Unlike the Napoleon letters, this particular diary was lent for exhibition in Paris before the sale. When it was on view doubts were expressed by the French manuscript experts, who remembered that Professor Manson, the authority on Marie Louise, had questioned the authenticity of it.

Yet if the diary offered be not the original, where is that original? Nobody seems to know—not even in Paris.

In the circumstances the bidding was eager and the bidder who bought the diary for £490 seemed as determined to win it as he was to have his real name kept from publication. He used the name of "Mr. Patch" as his nom de vente.

LOCAL HOCKEY

Week-End Games

In a Mamak hockey tournament game, on the Marina ground on Saturday, the Kowloon Indians defeated H.M.S. Cornwall by two goals to nil.

In winning this match, the Indians retained their second position on the League table.

The game was uninteresting and was scrappy throughout.

The sailors played with only ten men from beginning to finish, the inside-right position being vacant.

At the start of play the Indians, attacked but could do nothing in front of the Naval goal, G. Singh, their centre forward, missing a number of opportunities.

The regular goalkeeper for the losers did not turn up, but Baldwin who substituted, gave a brilliant display, clearing effectively and was the best player on the field.

In their continuous attacks the Indians eventually succeeded in scoring. Pinto being the scorer.

In the second half, the game did not improve and after about twenty minutes' play, G. Singh put the Indians further ahead. Play was confined to mid-field when the final whistle was blown.

"Y" Win In Friendly-Encounter

The Y.M.C.A. defeated H.M.S. Duncan by 4 goals to 1 in a friendly encounter at King's Park on Saturday.

The game was fast and exchanges were even from the start. After about twenty minutes' play, the "Y" took the lead, but soon after, the "Duncan" equalised.

A few minutes before the interval, Moeller gave the "Y" the lead again.

"Y" Ladies Beat Recrelo

In a friendly match played at King's Park on Saturday, the "Y" ladies defeated the Recrelo ladies by 2 clear goals.

The Recrelo team played with only nine players.

Both of the goals were scored by S. Dalziel.

The play throughout was very scrappy, due to the poor state of the ground.

Y.M.C.A. Eleven For Macao

The Y.M.C.A. hockey team selected to travel to Macao on Sunday, February 10, is as follows:—A. N. Othier; E. F. Selk and G. Sommer; J. Farmer, D. McLeell and R. A. Bates; S. Fowler, G. Fowler, W. J. Brown, J. Moeller and T. J. Price (Captain).

Interporters At Play

Yesterday at King's Park the selected Hockey team met and lost to a team composed of the Rest of the Colony by the odd goal in five.

The state of the ground was slippery, due to the continuous drizzle, and in consequence play was much below par.

The selected team's defence put up a good showing and Reed (W) and Dulla Singh, despite the state of the ground, proved their worth. Of the backs Rodriguez was the safer. The forward line combined well.

Mackay on the right wing played an off game. Out of position time and again and unable to return the many passes directed his way, he gave a very poor display.

The rest was well served by Alf Din who played a great game. On the form produced by him yesterday he should be in the selected team. With the exception of Reed (W), he was the best man on the field.

The Interport team scored first through Garthwaite and thereafter the Rest asserted themselves and from a short corner Alf Din equalised. This was followed by a quick goal by Awtar Singh.

After the interval Divett increased the lead and towards the end Karter Singh reduced the deficit.

Li Ho, a 38-year old woman living at No. 18, Swatow Street, first floor, was charged before Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy on Saturday with having attempted to procure six women and girls to leave the Colony for immoral purposes. The case was remanded until to-morrow afternoon.

Miss Eunice Samy (niece), Messrs. G. Coysh, George She, W. Zimmerman, F. Marsh, R. Abraham, J. Linton, F. E. Nash, Miss Morris, Mrs. Seyer, Mrs. M. Banker, Mrs. O. M. Larson, Dr. C. W. Wong, Messrs. A NEW MOSQUE AT KOWLOON

(Dedicated by "Mr. J. M. Dyer")

The new Mosque at Ho Mun Tin, Kowloon was dedicated to the Muslim community of Hong Kong by Mr. J. M. Dyer, on behalf of his wife, in the presence of a large gathering on Saturday afternoon.

The dedication ceremony was performed by the Maulvi.

Situated in picturesque surroundings, in Waterloo Road the Mosque presents a striking figure with its six minarets, one at each corner and two on either side of the dome which is surmounted by a crescent moon several feet in length. Immediately in front is the monument built to the glorious memory of the Indian Troops who fell in action during the Great War; and at the entrance to the building is an Italian marble tablet with the following inscription in English: "This Mosque is erected and presented to the Muslim Community by Mrs. Hallma Lam Dyer, January 25, 1935."

MR. J. M. DYER

After the ceremony, Mr. Dyer made a brief speech, in the course of which he said:

"I am so glad now to see the Mosque completed that I ask you to join with me in returning thanks to Allah who in His Benevolence has guided and made it possible for me to present, on behalf of my wife, this Mosque to the Community."

"It will at the same time interest you to know briefly the development of the cemetery nearby. The area was first allotted to the Military some 17 years ago, but from personal observations from time to time I saw that little use had been made of it, until 1933, when the management was handed over to our Trustees. Subsequently, a subcommittee, composed of Indian Military Officers, and several members of the Indian Muslim Society and of the local community, was formed, with Mr. Abbas Khan as chairman. This sub-committee, fired by the Spirit of Islam, did splendid pioneer work, making rapid progress, despite many difficulties."

"I myself felt sympathetic towards them and their cause, and did what little I could during my periodic visits to the Colony. Others also came forward to help. With generous contributions from the Police Force, Naval Yard Police, Gael Guards, and Private Watchmen, nearly all of whom are members of the Indian Muslim Society, and last, but not least, from the Military, Mr. Abbas Khan was able to build the boundary wall. The Military then did excellent service by active work in levelling the site. How well they have done it, you can see for yourself to-day, and it gave me a great deal of pleasure to supervise on many occasions, companies of between 30 and 50 from the former regiments stationed here."

while Mrs. Kam Chung Wah of Shanghai followed it up with a like amount. Naturally these welcome donations brightened up our spirits very much, and we pushed on the work with greater vigour and hope.

"To-day we are able to offer you the amenities of a new Mosque. The cemetery is ready for use, but a great deal has yet to be done to improve the site, such as building retaining walls, filling gaps, drainage. I feel sure, however, that the Trustees can depend on your co-operation in the future, just as you have helped in the past when called upon."

"I must now thank those connected with the work: Mr. Abbas Khan, who throughout has been in the forefront in all matters, his subcommittee for their untiring co-operation; Mr. Meer Walli for acting as foreman in charge of the coolies, those who assisted financially and otherwise, and finally to all of you, gentlemen, for attending to-day this opening ceremony, as it is very gratifying to see all sections so well represented here."

MR. ABBAS KHAN

Mr. Abbas Khan then followed with a short speech in Hindustani in which he said:—

"You have just heard the history of this site, and, as chairman of the sub-committee in charge of it since 1933, I can tell you that the development has not been easy. Much of the quick progress has been due to Mr. Dyer, who not only has given us moral and financial support, but who has also taken a very active part by personal supervision practically every day during his stay in Hong Kong in the construction of the boundary walls and the Mosque, and what you see to-day bears eloquent testimony to the splendid results of his efforts. As you all know by now, the cost of the Mosque has been met by Mrs. Dyer, to whom we owe a great deal of thanks."

"In time to come, this site will not be sufficient for our requirements, and I intend very soon to apply to the Government through the proper channels for an extension to the adjacent hill."

Mr. Abbas Khan also thanked the trustees and others for their support, especially mentioning Inspector Fazal Ahmed who had assisted him materially in his undertakings. Sub-Inspector Noor Mahomet and Inspector Ghulam Mahomet, the latter of the Naval Police, were also thanked for their kind co-operation.

He also thanked the following ladies: Mrs. Firdos Khan, Mrs. Kam Chung Wah, and his wife Mrs. Abbas Khan.

CHUN-SHING INSTITUTE OF COMMERCE

Principal Reviews Year's Work

The half-yearly graduation certificate and prize-giving function of the 16th Term of Typewriting Course together with the 3rd Term of Commerce of the Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce was held in the presence of a very large gathering of students and friends at the King's Theatre yesterday morning.

The Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso O.B.E., LL.D. distributed the certificates and prizes to the successful candidates and complimented the Institute on the success of the year's work.

A SATISFACTORY REPORT

Mr. Kwok Chun Shing, principal of the Institute, review a year of great progress, the school roll having increased considerably since the last term.

After the prize distribution, a group photograph was taken of the prize winners and the teachers of the Institute. A cinema show and a delightful concert, rendered by the students of the Institute wound up the proceedings of the day.

Forty-six students graduated, 38 from the 16th Term of Typewriting Course, and 8 from the 3rd Term of Commerce.

Half Yearly Report

In presenting the Report on the work of the Institute for the last six months, the Principal Mr. Kwok Chun Shing said:—

Dr. Tso, Ladies and Gentlemen. The Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce (formerly the Chun-Shing Typewriting School, founded in 1929) completed its 16th Term Typewriting Course together with 3rd Term of Commerce in December, 1934, and this is, therefore, its half yearly report. The maximum number of students on roll was 216 of different nationalities and the average attendance was about 90 per cent.

Studies

As the majority of students attending this Institute came merely to receive a training in some commercial art or knowledge, we deemed it necessary to graduate our curriculum into Courses—Commercial, Typewriting and English. In the Commercial Course, there were two classes in the morning, and one class in the evening; in Typewriting Course, classes were held throughout the whole day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and in the English Course, classes were conducted in the evening (Standards 4, 6 and 8). In accordance with our aim to provide an all-round commercial education, special attention was paid to the teaching of Typewriting, Shorthand, Book-keeping, Accountancy, Commercial Knowledge, Commercial Law, Correspondence, Arithmetic, Banking, Economics, Insurance, Shipping, Filing and Cardex Systems, Calculating Machine, Adding Machine, Check Writer and Office Equipment.

Staff

The Institute had on the staff very experienced and efficient personnel. They were Messrs. Li Yat Choi, A.A., N. H. Gustilo, A.A., A. Sc. Com., B. Sc. Com., M.Sc., B.A., H. L. Mars, D.C.S., Chartered Accountant (U.S.A.), Li Hung Tsoi (Matric. Cert. of H.K. University) and Mrs. D. E. Evans (Cert. London Chamber of Commerce, Pitman's Cert., National Union of Teachers' Cert.). All of them were very conscientious in the discharge of their duties, and I take this opportunity to thank them publicly for their invaluable assistance.

Sports

Due to lack of organization and a playground games and sports did not receive as much attention as they ought to have received. However, steps had been taken to remedy this seeming neglect. During the term under review football and basketball teams had been organized. Our Ping-Pong team which existed in former terms and consisted of experienced players paid a visit to Canton where they had several friendly matches against some teams there. In the summer months launch picnics round the Island of Hong Kong were frequently held, and the approach of winter till the end of the term bicycle excursions were organized and we visited various parts of Kowloon and the New Territories. In all these picnics, I am glad to report, the students participated with great enthusiasm and enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content.

Examination & Results

A total of 74 candidates sat for their graduation examination held in December last, and 45 passed.

11 out of 23 passed in Senior Typewriting, 37 out of 32 passed in Junior Typewriting, and 8 out of 16 passed in Commercial Course. The percentage of failures was rather high, and this was due to the stricter marking of the papers. We found it necessary to do so, as we wish to upkeep the tone and efficiency of this Institute. The first of the Senior Division in Typewriting is Master Leung Hung Kon who can type 60 words a minute on any kind of typewriter after a period of four months' training. The first of the Elementary Commercial Course is Master Liang Kanyin who passed with nine subjects, such as Typewriting, Correspondence, Commercial Knowledge, Insurance, Import and Export, Shipping, Book-keeping, Arithmetic and Banking within a term of eight months.

With the hope of encouraging the students, and improving their speed and efficiency, we have been holding an annual competition in Typewriting. The competition for 1934 took place on 21st January 1935, and 30 passed pupils sat for the contest. We were fortunate enough to secure the presence of Mr. H. Hurman to be one of the Supervisors of the contest. The winners of the contest were (1) Masters William Li (2) G. R. Ali and (3) Banksey Yip.

Announcement

A new feature added to this Institute, whose work, since its foundation in 1929, done by the staff and the progress made by the students have been satisfactory, is that its authorities have been appointed representative and centre for the examination of the Institute of Commerce, Institute of Book-keepers and Pitman's Short-Hand Institute, London, the passing of which will lead to Diploma and Degree. I take this opportunity to announce to the public that the first examination to be held in this Institute and open to outside candidates will take place about the beginning of March. In view of the importance of this examination, a Supervising Committee has been appointed comprising Messrs. L. A. Barton, the Cashier of Hong Kong Treasury, H. Hurman, the Manager of Office Appliance Co. Ltd. and Dr. F. C. Tsang, M.B., B.S.

Before concluding, I beg to tender our sincerest thanks to Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso, O.B.E., LL.D., for being so kind as to distribute the prizes; to Messrs. A. S. Robin and L. R. Idefonso, for giving us glowing lectures on commercial subjects; to the members of the Supervising Committee for the London Examinations; to Dr. S. F. Lam, Ph.D., our Honorary Lecturer; to Drs. F. C. Tsang, and S. Li, our Medical Advisers; to the following prominent business men who are so kind as to offer prizes to the students graduated with honours.

Mr. H. Hurman, one prize (fountain pen) for the first winner of the Annual Typewriting Competition.

Mr. K. Masakine, one prize (silver cup) for the second winner of the Annual Typewriting Competition.

Dr. E. W. J. Sun, one prize (silver cup) for the first boy of the Junior Typewriting Examination.

Mr. J. R. Swales, one prize (camera) for the first boy of the coming London Examination which will take place beginning of March, and to you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for helping to make this function a success. (Applause.)

The Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso After the distribution of the certificates and prizes, the Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso said:—

Mr. Kwok, Ladies and Gentlemen:— It gives me much pleasure to come here to-day and attend at the Graduation Function of The Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce; and I feel greatly honoured in being asked by the Director, Mr. Kwok, to distribute the prizes and certificates to the successful students; a function which I am delighted to perform.

Three years ago, I had the honour of performing a similar function on the completion of the 9th Term of the typewriting Course. At that time, this Institute was known as The Chun-Shing Typewriting Academy. Since then, it has enlarged its scope of work and has adopted its present title The Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce.

To-day, after having listened to the report which the Director has just read, I am greatly impressed with the many useful subjects in which the Institute has provided for the training of its students. I feel sure that any student having an efficient knowledge of such subjects will have a better chance of employment and of earning a livelihood.

Eltherto education imparted in all schools in Hong Kong has been on general lines and of a stereotyped nature. During the last twenty odd years it has advanced to the secondary degree which leads to entrance to a University for higher education. While we are the proud possessors of a University in Hong Kong it is but natural that all schools should aim at fitting their students for higher education. But as the number of students who can afford to go in for higher education are not many, this stereotyped education for many thousands of students in the Colony does not meet the demands of present-day needs.

I have watched the development of the Hong Kong educational system during the last 38 years and I feel that the time has come when changes should be made in the system and that general education should be supplemented with technical training in all its various branches and the Colony should provide such facilities. I congratulate Mr. Kwok and the

CARTER THE GREAT

Still Drawing Good Houses

The tricks of "Carter The Great" do not seem to be exhaustible and he is still enjoying very good houses at the King's Theatre, where in addition to the night show, he gave two matinees over the week-end. It would appear that the audience are never tired when Carter entertains. His unceasing patter, full of wit and good humour is as enjoyable as his tricks, and he has the knack of holding the audience deeply interested in everything he says or does.

Miss Nancy Lingg, one of the favourites with Carter The Great Company.

The biggest act on the programme at each performance was his sawing a woman into halves. This mystifying act seems to fascinate those who have seen it and many went back again to the King's to see it a second time. The "Casket of Creation," the "Iron Maiden from Nuremberg," the "Shooting of a Live Woman" were all included in Carter's matinee and will be shown again to-night.

Miss Evelyn Maxwell whose uncanny power of thought transference is so remarkable was pelted with questions (though not aloud) by the audience. Those who have not seen Miss Maxwell's exhibition would do well to visit the King's while Carter is still on the programme.

Carter will give the last two nights of the season.

HEROIC ACT REWARDED

A pleasing function took place on board H.M.S. Tamar on Saturday morning when Commodore Frank Elliott, R.N., O.B.E. presented Leading Seaman Sai Fook, coxswain of one of H.M.S. Tamar's steamboats with the Bellillo Star in silver for bravery and a cheque for $25.

The incident which called forth the above function occurred on August 3 last when Sai Fook rescued two Chinese women and a man from a sampan which had capsized during a squall. After bringing the three to safety he was informed that a small child was trapped under the upturned boat. Without hesitation, he dived under the sampan at great risk of being entangled in the gear and saved the child. The Star was awarded in recognition of this heroic act.

NO PASSPORT

On a charge of entering the Colony without a valid passport, Tormaz Paluch, a 22-year old Polish seaman was ordered to be expelled by Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy on Saturday. It was stated that defendant came from Canton and gave himself up to the Police last week.

staff of the Institute of Commerce for so successfully carrying on a technical commercial course, of training which meets the present need of many.

I wish also to congratulate the successful students for passing their examinations so creditably. At the same time, I should like to tell them that they must not rest content with their laurels on obtaining a certificate of efficiency. For efficiency can only be maintained by constant practice and work.

With these few remarks I wish the Chun-Shing Institute of Commerce every prosperity and success. (Applause.)

GIVE AND TAKE

It is becoming daily more evident that Great Britain is approaching a crisis in her trade relations with the two Pacific Dominions. Both Australia and New Zealand, not without good reason, are apprehensive lest the mother country's policy, if it continues its present course, will inevitably lead to a restriction of the country's market for their meat and dairy produce. In proportion as Britain succeeds in stimulating her domestic agriculture her dependence on imports will decline; but instead of granting to the Dominions priority in the supply of her reduced volume of imports, she has entered into trade agreements which guarantee a specific share to certain foreign countries. The Dominions raise no objection to restriction in so far as it may be necessary in the interests of our own agriculture; what they object to is restriction in the interests of the foreigner as implied in the trade agreements. Dr. Earle Page, the Australian Deputy Prime Minister and leader of the Country Party, was speaking with authority when he declared that Australia would not tolerate restriction imposed in such a cause. The future of the country, he said with truth, and her ability to meet her external obligations depended on the development of her resources and upon an ample market for her produce. Since the British market is the only one offering scope for such development, it is clear how disastrously the restriction of that market would react on the prospects of the Dominion.

Opinion in Britain is by no means insensitive to the plea of Dr. Earle Page. It is generally agreed that when the foreign trade agreements expire in 1936 they should only be renewed on such terms as will relieve both Australia and New Zealand from any fear of restriction. But it is appropriate to point out that a curtailment of Britain's foreign imports will expose her to an equivalent curtailment of her foreign markets. Australia must, therefore, be prepared to offer the mother country corresponding recompense in her own market. And that will necessitate, not so much an increase of the preference margin, which is already in most cases adequate, as a reduction of her tariffs to levels which are less prohibitive than at present. Britain does not dispute the right of Australia to protect her secondary industries any more than she disputes Britain's right to protect her agriculture. Nevertheless, if Britain is to sacrifice her foreign exports for the sake of her agriculture, she must expect a countervailing sacrifice on her part. What is obviously required is in the words of Dr. Page, "the negotiation of a mutual policy," such as will ensure the maximum exchange of Australian agricultural products for British manufactured goods.

CHAHAR BOMBARDED BY JAPAN

JAPANESE INTIATION OWNED BY LEGATION

Bombarded Towns Outside Disputed Area

[Special to the 'Hong Kong Daily Press' (Copyright).]

Shanghai, Jan. 24.
After two years of comparative quiet, Japan surprises the world by renewing military activities again in North China, almost simultaneously with Foreign Minister Hirota's assurance at the Diet of a Japan "as a friendly neighbour" to China. The latest reports from Peking to reach here carry official confirmation, both Chinese and Japanese, of hostilities in eastern Chahar.

How the trouble started is shrouded in mystery, the Chinese, at least have not been able to explain it. Major Takahashi, Military Attaché of the Japanese Legation, however, admitted that he had received a representative from General Ho Ying-ching, acting Chairman of the Peking Military Affairs Commission, reiterating that Chinese soldiers in the disputed area (a tract of territory in Chahar Province which Japan claims should be incorporated into Jehol) have been ordered to withdraw, pending the conference to be held at Kalgan, capital of Chahar, next month. Further, he admitted that the Japanese troops had initiated the hostilities, as reason for which he said that "the Japanese troops advanced because the Chinese failed to withdraw pending settlement of the Jehol-Chahar boundary dispute, but had instead adopted a threatening attitude."

The Chinese claimed that their troops had already been withdrawn from the disputed area, pending settlement, which seems to be well substantiated by the fact that the first assault of the Japanese had been on Tushikou, one of the Great Wall passes between Kalgan and Kupeikou, outside the disputed area, as are all the scenes of subsequent fighting. As to how far the Japanese intend to extend their activities, Major Takahashi's declaration—"We will not stop at Tushikou if resistance continues"—is not too reassuring.

The fighting broke out late Tuesday afternoon, in which about 2,000 combined Japan-"Manchu" forces were engaged. Four Japanese aeroplanes, dropped seven bombs on the town of Tung-chassu, near Tushikou, at 10 a.m. yesterday. A squadron of seven subsequently carried out an aerial bombardment of the villages of Tushikou and Kuyuan, followed by an intense artillery attack on Tushikou, with at least 40 shells poured into the village, this again was followed by a charge of cavalry and infantry, covered by artillery fire and supported by 30 armoured cars brought there for that purpose.

Valiant resistance was offered by Chinese troops at Tushikou, Kuyuan and Tungchassu, according to foreign reporters. For the present the attackers have been repulsed, and fighting ceased since 7 o'clock last night, concluding a 25 hours' action. Japanese reinforcements are, however, being rushed from Jehol, and resumption of hostilities, probably of more serious nature, is momentarily expected.—

AN OLD WOMAN MURDERED

Robber Incident In Kowloon

A dastardly crime was committed yesterday by one or more robbers at Kowloon City in which an aged woman lost her life.

Woo Sai Sze, a 42-year-old widow residing at No. 29 Sai Tau Street, ground floor in her report to the Police yesterday stated that at about 1 p.m. she went out and left her 73-year-old widowed mother at home alone sitting in a chair in the front room.

On her return home at 3.30 p.m. the old lady was found sitting on the floor dead with her hands tied loosely in front of her and her mouth covered with a handkerchief used as a gag. She was apparently suffocated. The house was left in general disorder with the work of ransacking for loot. In all clothing, jewellery and money to the value of $50 were stolen.

It seems that no alarm nor cries for help were raised and the neighbours when questioned by the police who were called in later could throw no light on the affair.

Investigations are proceeding and up to a late hour last night no arrests had been made.

Another Robbery

Another robbery was reported to the Police during the week-end. Wong Wing the owner of the Ying Kee shop in Nam O in his statement to the police said that his junk No. 2790 while lying off Nam O in Chinese territory in British waters on January 23 was suddenly boarded by three men armed with rifles and revolvers. His folks who were on board at the time were ordered ashore and the robbers set sail in the direction of Sai Kung.

The junk is of 80 piculs capacity and at the time of the robbery was carrying some salt fish and loose salt. The folks' clothing was also stolen and in all the loot amounted to $295.45. The junk is valued at $230.

In connection with this robbery one man has been detained by the police for alleged possession of part of the stolen property.

ANOTHER "ISLAND" ACCIDENT

On The Same Spot!

The "Island" at Hennessy Road just opposite Tin Lok Lane was the scene of another motor accident on Saturday evening at 9.45 when private car No. 1203 driven by Mr. J. F. Lunny, of the Hong Kong Electric Co., Ltd., crashed into the "Island" completely smashing the lamp standard.

It will be recalled that a similar accident occurred on the same spot about a week ago when Col. Bird was involved. The same lamp standard was replaced only a few days ago.

When Mr. Lunny reached the spot on Saturday evening travelling from West to East at about 15 m.p.h. the ground had been made slippery by the slight drizzle and before he could swerve his car it had mounted the Island, bringing down the lamp standard. Luckily for Mr. Lunny who was travelling alone at the time, the falling pieces of the standard just missed him and his car as otherwise a more serious accident would have resulted.

Mr. Lunny suffered no injuries other than shock and his car which was later towed to a garage suffered a damaged offside wheel steering gear and mudguard.

Due to the bad weather, fortunately no one was standing on the "Island" at the time.

MISS ANN DODWELL

Car Crashes With Lorry

An alarming experience befell Miss Ann Dodwell on Saturday afternoon when her car No. 2489, collided with motor lorry No. 3888 of the Hong Kong Signal Station, Whitfield Barracks, on Reservoir Hill, Kowloon. Fortunately Miss Dodwell escaped with only a minor cut on the face, caused by broken glass from the windscreen which was completely shattered.

The car received damage to the mudguard, door, running board, hood, and windscreen, while the lorry which was driven by Pte. D. Thompson, had its rear mudguard and petrol tank dented.

If Gossip We Must

(By "DUMBLELL")

There is a certain cachet about the Peninsula; frequently perhaps a "cachet fevre," but none the less a something which is a cut above the other local hostilities. In the sacred precincts of the Rose Room no unrighteous flannel trousers intrude. There is an atmosphere of sincere but decorous gaiety. And it is possible to eat and drink a good meal in peace, more particularly in one piece.

On Saturday night the Rose Room was full but comfortable. The food admirable, the wine rosy, what more could the heart of man or woman desire? Good company! It was there.

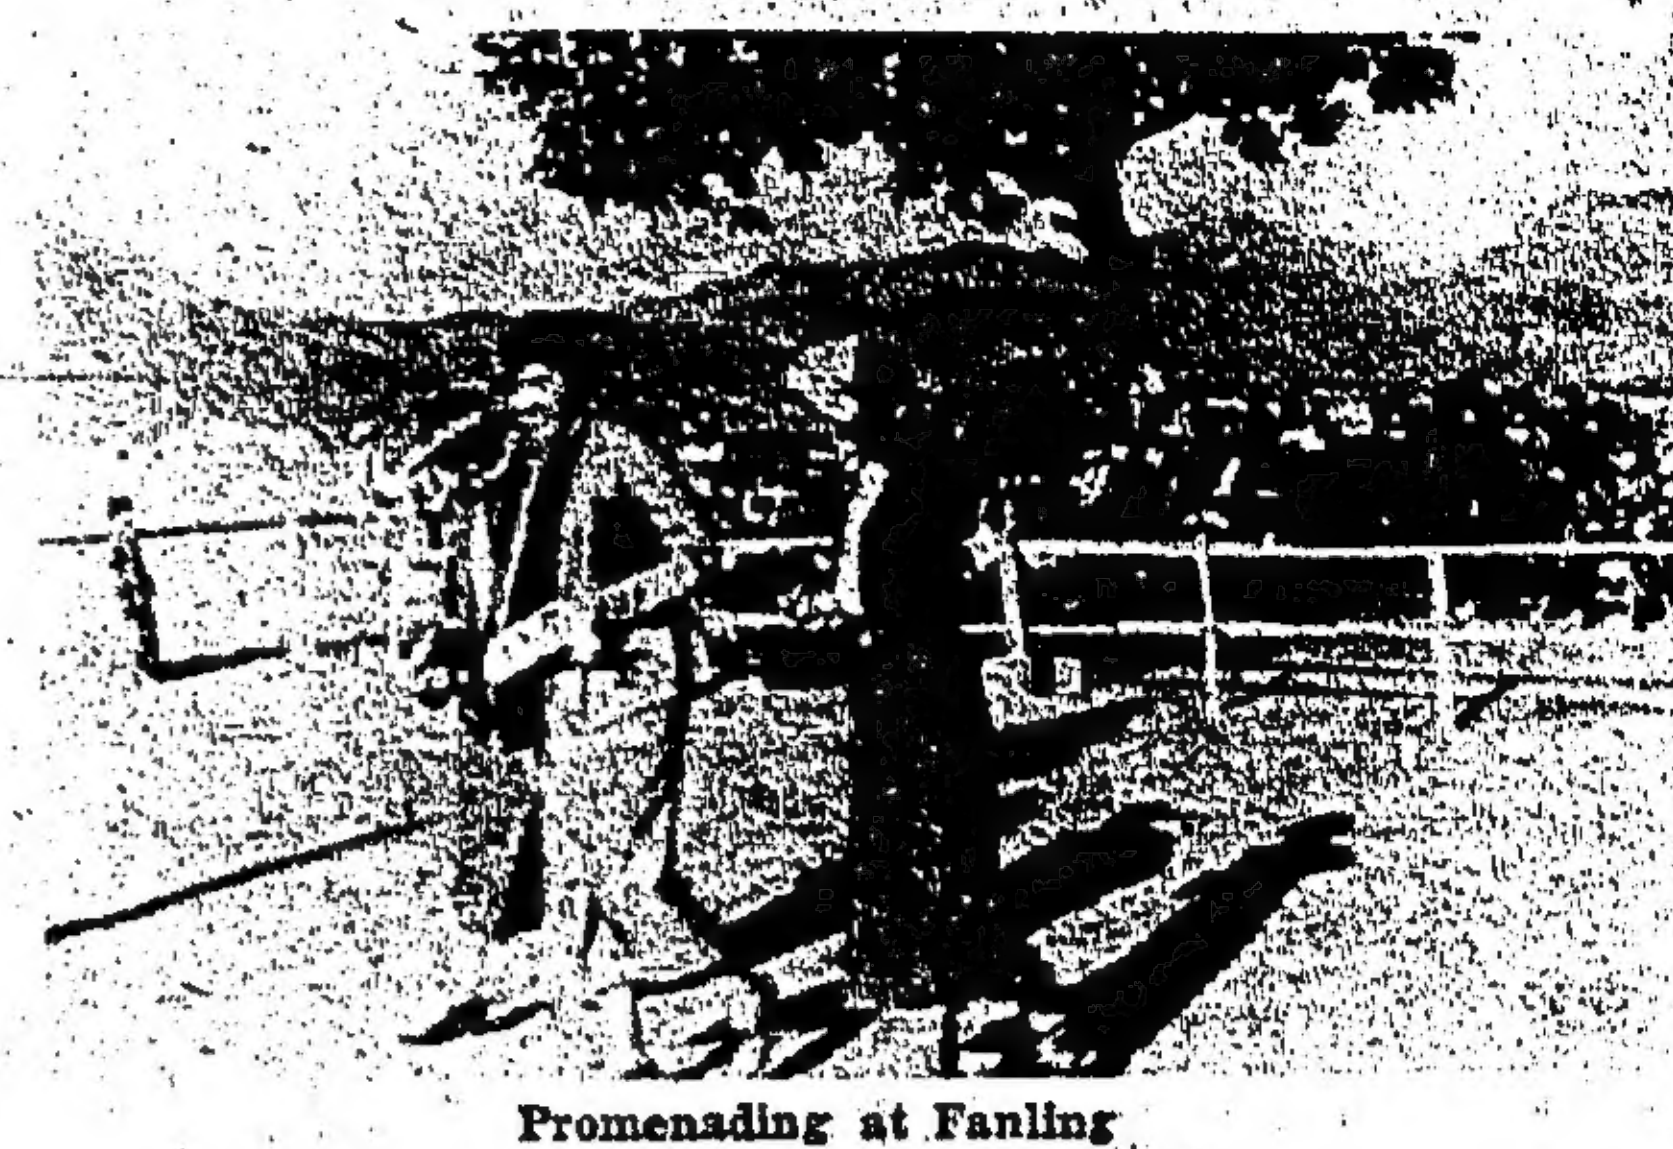

The law was strongly represented. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sheldon took a party, she dressed in ice-blue satin. In the party were Don and Ronnie Evans; she was wearing a most attractive mauve chiffon frock. Mrs. Croucher was vivacious as ever. Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart-Smith were returned from what holiday they managed to snatch; I say, I have said, and I will continue to say that she is the most attractive woman in Hong Kong. On the other side of the room Miss Walroth and Miss Gibbs, charming visitors to the Colony, were entertaining a large and rather Naval party to dinner. In it were lone Guest, Mortimer Neame, Ann Harcourt, and, always the exception, Mr. and Mrs. Ropes.

I saw Mrs. Hancock dancing with Mr. Pack-Beresford, and Mr. Ravenhill with a fair unknown. Mrs. Packer looked a little tired, but, as my sob sister would say, lovelier than ever. Others I noticed were Sylvia Morris and Captain Dunlop, Bob Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Smith, and Lieut. Beach Thomas, incognito, and alas! in flannel trousers. And may I, en passant, pay a most sincere tribute to the Peninsula "crepe suzette," a dish of which Quagliano himself might well be proud.

(By "CHANCE")

So many people were at Dr. and Mrs. Smalley's cocktail party at the Kowloon Hospital last Monday that you must have heard something about it but I cannot resist telling you more. The party was to celebrate Dr. and Mrs. Smalley's Silver Jubilee, and some 150 guests were present to drink to the health of the happy couple. Mr. Justice Lindell proposed the toast in a very witty speech with tantalising references to the K.K.K. and the only fault I could find with the speech was its brevity. Among those present were Major-General and Mrs. Borrett, the Chief Justice and Mrs. MacGregor, Commodore and Mrs. Elliott, Sir Henry and Lady Pollock, and many other well-known members of Hong Kong society.

Mrs. Smalley looked charming in a blue printed chiffon gown with a velvet coat to match and was ably assisted in her duties of hostess by her three delightful daughters. In the dining room two gifts were on view offered in appreciation of Dr. Smalley's wonderful work in the Colony.

I am sorry to say, however, that Miss Rachael Smalley, the girl with the sunny disposition, has since been admitted to the Hospital with a broken bone in the foot sustained while playing hockey, or was it while she was trying to jump off a bus.

THE DEBUTANTES

The Six Debutantes, otherwise known as the Six Hollywood Blondes, gave their farewell performance at the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel last Saturday and the first item they gave was, by unanimous vote, the best since their arrival in Hong Kong. It was a Hula Hula number and I thought their dress (or undress) was very effective, complete with leis around their necks.

Amongst those present were the remains of a wedding party—the Moutrie-Churchill wedding.—The two Hance girls were extremely smart and pretty in rust coloured silk combined with brown velvet. Then I noticed Johnny Walker with Peggy Allen of the Empress of Japan and they both appeared to be having a great time.

BROKERS AT PLAY

By the way, have you heard that a certain "very game young man" is going to walk round the New Territories on Tuesday night (or I should perhaps have said Wednesday morning at 3 a.m.)? It is true, and all for a bet. Mind the village dogs, is our advice. Nevertheless we wish him luck.

I see our sharebrokers are devoting quite a lot of time to sport these days. First it was cricket, then followed hockey but the best is yet to come for on Wednesday the Sharebrokers Association will meet the Stock Exchange in their annual soccer match on the South China ground at Caroline Hill. Gilbert Harriman has presented a shield, known as the Harriman Trophy, to be competed for annually and on Wednesday, I hear Mrs. Harriman will kick-off. Some of the lads are practising seriously and a great game should result.

Dorrit feels very like a broken down cab-horse. She has walked all the way down the Peak. Partly for the good of that troublesome organ the liver, and partly (be it said with shame) to work off a gentle spite against the Peak Tram Co. In fact she is thinking of buying a small motorcar which would be cheaper locomotion far than frequent first class fares up and down. Those welcome spare ten cent seats just made all the difference. And now they have put up bars against the impoverished Peak women.

Well, as we were saying, we walked down the other day, and when we arrived near the Bishop's house, just below the Royal gardens, we were amazed at the new architectural efforts going on in the town. Lots of miniature skyscrapers seem to be rising up. Like a small edition of New York itself. It was most remarkable from that particular angle. Talk about depression the building companies seem to have plenty of confidence anyway.

There seem to be more and more cocktail parties. Dorrit was "swept up" in one the other night that went on till midnight. No we didn't drink all that time. Sauces and mash appeared around nine o'clock, and afterwards Childish (?) games such as "Murders" and of course dancing. And then some of us, who still had the energy betook ourselves to the "Gripes" to go on dancing. The new Extension hours, and the short road down must account for a lot of extra thick heads the next morning.

Fashions do change so, and it seems definitely dowdy not to vary the shade of your hair nowadays. Confronted by a choice of some fifteen different "rinses" we selected a "Reddish Brown" at the hairdressers-to-day. It only lasts till the next shampoo, when we will surely try another. And so on right through the spectrum till we arrive at the perfect shade. It should be amusing to see how many of our friends fail to recognise us as "Platinums" or, perchance "Rayens."

SENATOR HUEY LONG'S "KINGDOM"

Square Dealers Stage A Demonstration

Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Jan. 26.
Martial law has been declared here in the capital of Senator Huey Long's political "kingdom" by Governor Allen owing to conditions of violence, insurrection and disorder.

The order follows the action last evening of two hundred members of the militant "Square Deal" organization who are exasperated at the alleged dictatorial powers Senator Long has assumed in the State.

Armed with shot guns, they seized the courthouse in East Baton Rouge and held the building for three hours and they only dispersed when the leaders informed them that a truce had been arranged.

Senator Long arrived to-day from New Orleans and opened "hearing" at the State House at which he charged four sheriffs, one district attorney and possibly one district judge with plotting murder against certain officials including himself.

Shortly after proclamation of martial law, a party of National Guardsmen raided the offices of the Square Deal Association, apparently searching for ammunition, but found none.

Senator Long adjourned the enquiry into the plot till February 1.

BATTLE AVERTED

A pitched battle between National Guards and leaders of the Square Deal organization was narrowly averted at East Baton Rouge airport where nearly a hundred armed men assembled to await the expected departure of Senator Long.

The National Guards advanced on the Square Dealers, who showed no sign of retreating, but with the arrival of another company of National Guards and the Bomb Gas Company, the Square Dealers suddenly surrendered.

Colonel Roy, Commander of the National Guards, disarmed the Square Dealers, who were placed under technical arrest. Only one man was wounded.

MR. HIROTA ANSWERS CRITICS

Japan's Peaceful Intentions Reiterated

Tokyo, Jan. 26.
Replying in the Diet to a lengthy criticism of the alleged failure of his foreign policy, Mr. Hirota, the Foreign Minister, stressed the fact that his speech of Tuesday last was based on his honest views of the World situation.

He added that he was working heart and soul for the improving and establishing, on a permanent basis, of friendly Sino-Japanese relations.

Mr. Hirota expressed his firm conviction in the Lower House yesterday that there would be absolutely no war during his tenure of office.

He emphasised Japan's peaceful policy, though he admitted the necessity of armament, in view of the heavy armament expansion carried on by other Powers.

Referring to Russo-Japanese relations Mr. Hirota said it was most important and practical to conclude a non-fortification agreement between the "Manchukuo" and the Soviet, by which he was referring to the Portsmouth Treaty of 1905, which prohibits fortification along the Russo-Japanese border in Saghalien and also on the border, along Korea and Russia, which had worked most satisfactorily.

SIR JOHN SIMON'S HONOUR

Public Vindication Hailed By Press

London, January 26.
Sir John Simon's successful action for slander against the Rev. Whitaker Bond who had alleged he had a pecuniary interest in munitions which affected the Government's policy is welcomed irrespective of the party as a vindication of British political morality.

The "Daily Herald" (Labour) to-day says that "Sir John's vindication in court of his personal integrity will give genuine satisfaction to everyone who has any care for morality in public life."

The charge made was the most terrible that could be brought against a man in his position. No one who knows Sir John could for a moment suspect him of being influenced in his politics by any pecuniary motive. But the accusation was made. It was essential to rebut it. And we who have on occasion criticised his policies unsparringly are glad that his honour which should never have been impugned has been publicly vindicated.

The "Daily Telegraph" (Conservative) says the "British public is mercifully free from corruption of a kind so wilfully suggested by the defendant in this case but statements have been made both in Britain and abroad in the past few years to the effect that members of the British Cabinet have large holdings in armament firms and are moulding British policy to their own ends. Unfortunately it is less easy to take action when such statements are made outside of this country. But those who have been sincerely misled should note that the Foreign Secretary deliberately sold investments made out of office at a loss rather than incur the suggestion that he was benefiting even in a minor degree by sale of explosives."

LOSS OF THE MOHAWK

Forty Seven Dead And Missing

New York, January 26.
The casualties in the Mohawk disaster, which earlier, as 14 passengers and 52 of the crew not accounted for are now stated to be 47 dead and missing and 118 rescued. Coast Guards announce that 31 bodies of passengers have so far been picked up.

The missing include Mrs. Julian Peabody, nee Celestine Hitchcock, sister of Tommy Hitchcock, the famous polo player, Mrs. Polder and her husband, the architect, and Mrs. Kraemer, the wife of Dr. William Kraemer of Delaware, who was due to arrive in England yesterday on board the White Star liner Olympic.

The Mohawk is the fourth Ward liner to come to grief since the Morro Castle fire. The steamer Cauto was in trouble off Florida in December, and the liner Havana ran aground on a reef off the coast of Florida.

It is understood that the Mohawk was leased to replace the Havana, and this was her first voyage under the flag of the Ward Line.

OFFICIAL ENQUIRY

New York, January 26.
The United States Steamboat Inspection Service opens an enquiry to-day into the loss of the Mohawk, at which the surviving officers and members of the crew are expected to give evidence.

The Ward Line denies the statement that the Mohawk cut across the Talsman's bows.

Reuter.

New York, January 26.

At the enquiry into the Mohawk disaster, after the evidence of Captain Wang, master of the Talsman (the other vessel involved in the collision) alleging that the Mohawk suddenly swerved in the Talsman's path, suggesting that she did so owing to the failure of her steering gear, Chief Officer Pedersen of the Mohawk stated that the steering gear and the engine room suddenly failed, but the Chief Engineer of the Mohawk gave evidence that he was unaware of it.

Captain Wang, criticised for failure to lower the Talsman's bows, said that the Mohawk's lifeboats were rowed to other rescue ships.

Second Officer Nannestad of the Talsman saw no reason why the Talsman should have lowered her bows.

FURIOUS GALES IN BRITAIN

Widespread Damage At Ilfracombe

London, Jan. 26.
Furious gales reaching 86 miles an hour accompanied by storms of snow, sleet and hail is sweeping the British Isles. The gale started early yesterday and is still continuing. An inland wind uprooted trees and tore down telephone wires and electricity cables in one case in the path of a train and demolished hoardings and chimneys.

Many roads were blocked with snow, of which showers occurred in the London area and heavy falls in the Northern and Eastern Counties.

Several fishing vessels round the coast were unable to reach shelter before the storm broke and were in distress but no lives have been lost.

Among many acts of heroism reported was that of a doctor and a nurse who crossed ten miles of raging sea, with an eighty-mile blizzard blowing, to help an injured man on one of the Shetland Islands.

The wind reached ninety miles an hour at Ilfracombe, Devon, this morning, smashing the arcade, which is the main shopping centre and doing much damage to houses and fishing craft. Old residents describe the gale as the worst within their memory.

WEEK-END FOOTBALL

Navy Beaten By Fast Forwards

The slight drizzle on Saturday morning made football grounds very slippery but despite this handicap some fast and very interesting encounters were witnessed.

To what must have been a record crowd was present when the Navy bowed to S. China "A" in their first round Senior Shield replay by the odd goal in five. The game was very even but the speed of the Chinese forwards were a bit too much for the Navy and with Fung King Cheung's characteristic long passes to the wings which always found their mark to complete the final touches.

Chen Chan Wo and Chui Ah Fai made their welcome reappearances for the Athletic who were victorious by the odd goal in three against the Recreio in one of the fastest and brainiest games seen for a long time despite the slippery state of the ground.

Kowloon was beaten by a better team in the Police by three clear goals while in the second division Shield Navy, E. Lanes and Engineers won as expected.

SENIOR SHIELD REPLAY

For the first quarter of an hour the Navy were completely puzzled by the Chinese play and their defence was spreadeagled.

S. China took advantage of this and were attacking strongly. Wong brought Pepper full length to the ground.

After ten minutes play Wong sent over to Tam who scored with a terrific drive into the corner of the net to give Pepper no chance. Thereafter the play was very even with both goals tested in turn.

After the interval Navy was on the offensive. After 10 minutes play Cannell placed the ball for Skinner to equalise.

This was followed up quickly by S. China once more regaining the lead. Wong passing to Fung, who went in a lowly placed shot to put the Chinese ahead. Things were made certain for the Chinese when in front of the Navy goal, following a scramble Tam scored his second goal. About five minutes from time the Chinese were playing a great defensive game, their goal being practically packed by their players but nevertheless the Navy managed to reduce the lead through Skinner.

Senior Shield (2nd Round) In a very interesting game which resulted in the Athletic winning by the odd goal in three, they have to thank Chen Chan Wo and Chui Ah Fai for the great display they put up, especially the latter who was instrumental in blocking and disrupting the persistent efforts of the Recs' movements, so cleverly initiated by Gomes. A. V. Gosano in defence rarely put a wrong foot to the ball and it was he that had the nippy Chen mastered for the greater part of the game.

The game opened with Marques called upon to clear in quick succession. Gomes and B. Gosano at the other end tested the Chinese custodian. Play was very even for the first 30 minutes but after that the Chinese asserted their superiority. Interval arrived with the score blank.

After the breather Athletic returned to the offensive but a clever movement by the Recs' inside trio afforded Alves a difficult opportunity from an awkward angle and he scored a great goal.

Immediately after Tsui sent a long shot in and Ho intercepting the ball before it could reach Marques breasted the leather to equalise.

Soon after the same player receiving from Chan made things certain by scoring his second goal with a perfect shot.

A large crowd of Police supporters were not disappointed when they turned up to cheer their team to victory against Kowloon. From the start the Police had Kowloon mastered and it was not long when Stevens hooked the ball into the net catching Boys napping.

Boyes effected several quick saves and from a misunderstanding between Gilchrist and Morrison, T. Pile rushed through and Boys, just missing the slippery ball, allowed it to roll slowly into the net.

After this Perkins was called upon to deal with several hot shots from G. White, Jones, Knox and V. White.

In the second half Kowloon lost heart. Following a corner kick taken by T. Pile, Johnson, scored from close in giving Boys no chance.

JUNIOR SHIELD Recreio seconds were completely outplayed by the Navy and lost by four goals to one. Navy's display certainly branded them as potential shield winners.

From the start E. Lanes were masters of the game and it was not long when they commenced scoring at random. Fusiliers' goal was penetrated nine times to E. Lanes' twice.

A game approaching something like a senior encounter was seen on the Chatham Road ground when the R.A.S.C. lost to Engineers by the only goal scored by Budden in their Junior Shield game.

The goal was scored during the first five minutes of play.

The game later developed into a hard tussle for supremacy and notwithstanding the hard work put in by both sets of forwards the defences held out.

SENIOR LEAGUE St. Joseph's lost to the Fusiliers by three goals in a fast game. Hughes receiving from Dennis made a solo effort and crashed the ball past Sang.

Lee and Hewidge had bad luck when their shots were either too high or blocked in the nick of time.

A penalty was awarded to the Fusiliers and Harrison converted. The second half was played at a faster pace. Both goals were hotly attacked and towards the end Harrison beat Sang with a close shot.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Lincolns received a big shock when they met Athletic on the Caroline Hill on Saturday. The goal that was scored was the result of the Athletic keeper falling over the fire with the ball in his possession. The Chinese defence held sway and whatever the Lincolns' forwards did their movements were frustrated.

With the game practically theirs the Gunners were finally beaten by the Club by one goal. Just before the whistle for the breather Dumeau converted a penalty for hands against Fisher.

The second half saw the Gunners attacking but the Club defence was equal to the occasion.

THIRD DIVISION

Lincolns defeated the Ordnance by four goals to one in their third division encounter. Play was mostly confined to the Ordnance goal with spasmodic raids now and then in the Lincolns territory. Reason (2), Cousins and Thorpe scored for the Lincolns and Duffield for the Ordnance.

Yesterday's Trial

A good game was witnessed yesterday in the final interport soccer trial when the "Whites" under the leadership of Sid Strappe defeated the "Blues" under the Captaincy of Pardoe, by the odd goal in seven at Sookunpoo before a good crowd of spectators.

Lee Ting Sang and Lee Kwok Wai who have been chosen to represent the "Blues" did not show up, their places being taken by Dudley and Robson of the Lincolns. The "Whites" made three changes, Tso Kwai Tsing, Fung King Cheong and Ip Pak Wah being absentees, their places were taken up by English, Elliot and Baldry.

The ground was on the wet side, the players with the exception of Strange found it hard to keep on their feet.

From the commencement the "Blues" attacked but Leung Wing Chui was in good form and cleared well. The "Whites" then retaliated and A. V. Gosano, who was playing at right half, had the misfortune to handle in the penalty area, and from the resultant spot kick Tam Kong Pak made no mistake. The "Blues" forwards could not make much headway against the "Whites" sound defence and shortly before the interval Elliot increased the lead with a beautiful goal.

At half time the score was two to nil in favour of the "Whites".

After the breather the "Blues" settled down to some pretty football and from a perfect centre by Bickford, Howe reduced the lead with a smart header. Undaunted by this reverse the "Whites" took the ball down and from a good pass by Elliot, Tam Kong Pak eluded Pile and Dudley to send the ball into the net well out of Wong Wing's reach.

Not long after "Blues" again reduced the lead through Howe, who made a solo run through to net easily. During the last ten minutes the "Whites" scored again through Elliot but before long, the "Blues" reduced the lead through Ridley. From now till the end of the game the "Blues" were continuously attacking but could not score.

The game on the whole was not of a high standard owing to the wet state of the ground. Rodgers and Wong Wing the respective custodians were sound without being brilliant, both anticipated well. Swain of the East Lanes and Strange of the Club at back, for the "Whites" had much better understanding between them than the "Blues" backs.

Of the halves, A. V. Gosano was at a loss at right and was never at home during the whole game, Leung Wing Chui in the pivoted position and Parker on his left were perhaps the best halves on view. Pardoe at centre half for the "Blues" although playing well was not so good as Leung.

Of the two sets of forwards Tam Kong Pak playing inside right for the "Whites" was outstanding while Howe was perhaps better than Elliot at centre forward. B. Gosano played a very clever game for the "Blues" at outside right, his centres being al-

RUGGER

Friendly Matches

Two Rugger matches were played at Sookunpoo on Saturday, in the first of which the Royal Welch Fusiliers defeated H.M.S. Medway in a close game by three tries (9 points) to nil and in the second the Royal Artillery managed to share honours with the East Lanes.

Fusiliers v. Medway In the first match the Fusiliers, whose team was considerably strengthened by the inclusion of three Borderer players had things practically all their way for the greater part of the play.

The first score came through Jones, who crossed through wide of the post, the resultant kick not materialising. The Medway showed a flash of good play immediately afterwards, but were held back, notwithstanding great efforts by Hammett and Cheyne.

Floyd put the Fusiliers further ahead during the second half by scoring a try (unconverted) and just before the final whistle Davies fell over the line in a scramble to score. For the third time, the Fusiliers failed to convert.

R.A. and East Lanes.

The next game between the R.A. and the East Lancashire Regiment resulted in both sides scoring an unconverted try.

Metcalf, the Gunners' left centre-three-quarter, played a sparkling game and was responsible for opening the scoring early in the opening half. He failed to convert.

The East Lanes drew level in the second half when Williams crossed over. This player and Harrison played very well.

Interport Rugby team is as follows:—

L. G. Robertson; S. C. Archer, R. H. Griffiths, G. P. Lammett and H. R. McGilchrist; J. Hutchison and H. C. Meek; A. F. Walkden, W. E. Peers, H. O. Bramble, I. H. Bradford, D. McEllan, (Captain); J. C. Millar, K. A. Munro and D. A. Copplin.

VERNACULAR SCHOOL SPEECH DAY

Certificates And Scholarships Presented

The Annual Speech Day of the Government Vernacular School was observed on Saturday when a large number of parents and friends were present at the school hall which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Mr. H. K. Woo L.B. presented the certificates, scholarships and prizes to the successful candidates and amongst those present were: Messrs. J. E. Lau (Inspector of Vernacular Schools), Wan Yui Sing (Inspector of Chinese Schools) Fung Ping Shun, Fung Ping Wah, Chan Ping Woon, Chan Kwan Po, Loh Hee Tong and others.

The Headmaster Mr. Li King Hong, B.A., in his report stressed the fact that despite the increase in school fees and the pinch of depression the enrolment remained steady without substantial change. This fact alone serves as an ample proof that there is the demand from the community for this vernacular form of education.

Continuing his report the headmaster said inter alia:—

In the sphere of sports we had a very active year.

In June, for the first time in the history of our school we sent a team of about 20 boys to participate in the inter-school aquatic and field sports.

In July four Normal students sat for their final examination: on account of two shortened consecutive school years only one candidate passed, while in the previous examination we had 90% success. In the middle school Division and Higher Primary Division we had to stiffen our examinations because of the shortened year, and their percentages of promotions were 76.19% and 52.68% respectively—a gratifying result as a whole. The number of promotions from the Higher Primary Division has been held back for the reason that we had to promote boys to Class Lower Middle 1 from two Higher Primary Second Year classes.

Old Boys Association
I am happy to announce that an Old Boys Association, including both Middle School and Normal alumni, was founded in July. Mr. Fung Ping Fan being elected its first president. Mr. Fung generously donated to the school a complete set of the Chinese books kept at the former Imperial Library and reprinted by the Commercial Press, setting a good example to those who are in the position to help their alma mater.

A word of thanks is due to the Pen-Hok-Tun gentlemen, who have shown unflinching support and encouragement to our pupils by increasing their scholarship money in proportion to the raised tuition fees; and to the Bank of East Asia, which has been good enough to give 6% interest to the donation of the late Mr. Fung Ping Shan's Scholarships.

Finally the headmaster thanked Mr. Woo for coming to present the prizes. (Applause).

Mr. Woo's Speech
I have to thank Mr. Li for asking me to come and distribute the prizes this morning. It is an honour which I appreciate in the highest degree. I have also to thank Mr. Li for his kind reference in the Report which you have just heard, to my being a good example of bilingual attainment. This is a great compliment.

Looking at the facts and figures mentioned in Mr. Li's report regarding enrolment, fees and attendances, during the year under review I think it must be agreed on all sides that this School has fully justified its existence. From personal experience through being for a number of years one of the examiners of this and other schools I know of no school where Chinese language and literature is more effectively taught. (Applause).

Confucian Classics
In my opinion the Confucian classics fulfil the threefold object of true education, namely, to make us good, useful and wise.

With regard to the first object of Education, namely, to make us morally good, it is hardly necessary for me to enlarge on the point, because as Mr. Li has put it, the Confucian classics are based on conscience and virtue.

With regard to the second object of Education, namely, to make us useful, the fact is sometimes overlooked that Confucius was a practical man of affairs.

With regard to the third object of Education, namely, to make us wise: Everyone knows Confucius was devoted to learning and it is unnecessary to quote passages from the Confucian classics to support this statement. Furthermore the matters and things to which his efforts were directed were matters and things current in his own time.

Chinese Language

To say that the Chinese traditional language is a dead language would be conveying the impression that there is a vast difference between it and the colloquial language which is of course far from being the case. Such a statement might lead one to suppose that the traditional language differs from the colloquial language as Anglo-Saxon differs from the present day English; whereas practically the same Chinese words are used in the colloquial as in the traditional language, and the traditional form is a perfect vehicle of conversation between educated people.

As for the accusation that the traditional language is too difficult for the average student this is a statement that can hardly be taken seriously.

When I heard people talk about Chinese colloquial poetry my first impression was that it is some kind of Chinese limerick, or some burlesque parody, for the simple reason that colloquial and poetic are contradictory in terms.

Furthermore it may seem a paradox, but it is nevertheless true that unless you know the traditional language well you can never hope to be able to write good colloquial language.

For all these reasons, therefore, I strongly advise the boys of this school to have implicit faith in the traditional language as the sure foundation of other studies.

I conclude by offering my hearty congratulations to Mr. Li and his staff for their excellent results during the year under review. I also wish to congratulate those who have received prizes.

Those who have not been fortunate enough to receive prizes this year will find comfort in the advice given by Confucius:—

"If another man succeed by one effort you will use a hundred efforts. If another man succeed by ten efforts you will use a thousand. Let a man proceed in this way, though dull, he will surely become intelligent; though weak, he will surely become strong."

I hope these boys will make further efforts in the true Confucian spirit. (Applause).

TRAINING GALLOPS

Herod Still Favourite For The Derby

(BY "MORNING DEW")

The training on Saturday was on the slow side due to the state of the course. Interest was added to the gallops by the presence on the course of Messrs. D. S. Li (who is riding for Messrs. Kong Bros.), Mr. Peter Ho (who is riding for the Han Tin Stable) and Mr. C. L. Tao (who is riding for Mr. Li Tse Fong).

The best gallop of the morning was undoubtedly that of Herod, who was sent over the full Derby distance and covered the journey in 3.18, finishing very well. The last mile was in 2.68, which is the best time recorded so far and Herod certainly appears to be the most likely candidate to win this year's Derby.

The subscription griffins are still on the slow side, a good gallop being that of the Chestnut.

The Australians all moved nicely. The Maori and Vixen Tor travelling well, while Snowy River also showed a bit of pace. Midnight Star is coming along nicely and Shooting Star was sent over a quarter, which he covered in 27.1. He is the stable's hope and if ready for the annual Meeting might prove to be yet another Champion.

CONVERSION OF SECURITIES

Berlin Bourse Stimulated

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Jan. 25.

As expected, the promulgation of the law on Thursday, providing for a grand scale conversion of interest rates, gold and mortgage bonds, municipal loans and other standard fixed interest securities, gave an immediate stimulus to all sections of the bourse so that the quotations of both shares and bonds rose substantially at the prospect of relief which both industry and agriculture will feel when the interest on long-term loans is lowered from 6 to 4 per cent. In the end, the whole economic life of Germany is certain to benefit, above all, house property and estates. Capital values are expected to rise and house rents to grow easier. As the public had for a long time past foreseen and counted upon this change, preparations for the adjustment have already been made and nobody is taken by surprise. No widespread disapproval of the conversion is expected but the concrete facts will be known in ten days' time when the stipulated period for lodging a protest expires in the case of German residents. Foreign holders living in European countries have twenty days and those outside Europe have

REICHSBANK RETURN

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Jan. 23.

The Reichsbank statement of January 23 published on Friday reflects on the continued increase in the liquidity money market, in as much as the heavy short-term demands made to carry over the Christmas trade were largely repaid. Gold stock remained the same at 79.2 million Reichsmarks while foreign exchange reserves increased by 0.1 million to 4.6, making a total increase of 0.1 million to 83.8 million. Note issue declined by 134.3 millions to 322.9. The amount of credit issued as measured by bills, cheques, advances and investments decreased by 154.9 millions to 3720.5 million Reichsmarks.

forty but the amounts of stock held abroad is relatively not important. Meanwhile, to enable the technical adjustments to be made, the German bourses suspended dealing in all convertible stocks on Friday and Saturday. When operations resumed on Monday, it is expected that prices will continue not far below parity.
